

Pumpkins with Preschool!

Today, we went to the pumpkin patch with Andrew's class. It was lots of fun for the kids. Andrew found about 5 pumpkins that he wanted, before he finally settled on one. The girls were quick to find their pumpkins. They were looking for "baby" pumpkins. It was a fun time together and we enjoyed meeting the Bettencourts. This patch is their "labor of love" for the school. They plant it each year just for the kids at the school to come and pick from. Hope you enjoy the pictures of our fun day!
